Fiduciary duties of directors

Duty of Care
Directors must act in the manner that a “reasonably prudent person” would in their position.

Duty of Loyalty
Directors must place the interests of the Foundation ahead of their own interests and avoid using their board position for personal gain. Under the Conflict of Interest Policy, they must disclose conflicts when they arise.

Duty of Obedience
Directors are responsible for ensuring that the Foundation follows the law, its own bylaws and policies, and its mission.
Directors’ responsibilities

Each individual director should:

- know the Foundation’s purposes, programs, and plans
- be aware of (and comply with) the Foundation’s bylaws and policies, including the Conflict of Interest Policy, Antitrust Policy, and Code of Conduct
- prepare for, attend, and participate actively in board meetings
- serve as an ambassador of the Foundation and its mission
- help develop membership & fundraising opportunities
- join and participate actively in a board committee
Qualities of excellent directors

An excellent board member:

- has passion for the Foundation’s mission
- is focused on serving the Foundation and its community
- commits time and energy to the Foundation outside of board meetings
- independently develops knowledge and skills relevant to their board role
- thinks proactively about the Foundation’s needs and mission
